Glenbard North collecting donations for earthquake victims

Glenbard North High School students and staff, who responded so generously to recent hurricane relief efforts, are helping others devastated by a natural disaster. They are raising money to help those affected by the deadly earthquake that rocked the border of India and Pakistan.

As they have done in the past, Glenbard North social studies and foreign language teachers will collect money – this time on behalf of Doctors Without Borders. Donations will be accepted through Wednesday, Oct. 26. Donations may be made to the school at 990 N. Kuhn Road in Carol Stream. Please make checks payable to Glenbard North High School and note “Doctors Without Borders” on the memo line.

Doctors Without Borders has sent almost 80 international aid workers to Pakistan to help the injured and homeless. Without immediate medical attention, thousands more may die unnecessarily. Glenbard North interim principal Linda Geist said she is particularly concerned about these prospects because India and Pakistan are home away from home for many Glenbard North students. Family members of Glenbard North students have been affected by this tragedy.

Further information about this relief effort is available by calling foreign language department chairman Sharon Anderson at (630) 653-7000 Ext. 3219 or social studies department chairman Jim Roberts at 653-7000 Ext. 3280.
